DO THE HALLOWEEN “MAKER” MASH
on October 27th — 6pm to 9pm
Frankenstein has nothing on the Oak Hill Makerspace MAKERS

YOUNGSTOWN – Thursday evening, the Oak Hill Makerspace will hold what they hope to be an annual event. They are having a “MAKER MASH” to serve several purposes.

First, it will serve as the first open house to let the Youngstown public see their new 3D printing room, containing 6 3D printers which can be used by Youngstown’s growing MAKER Community in a variety of ways.

They are also offering a “MAKE and Take” craft to their visitors based on a Halloween theme. It is simple enough for most any maker, beginner or experienced.

And most importantly, this event offers a Halloween seasonal community gathering of people to promote the makerspace’s parent organization The Oak Hill Collaborative’s goal of improving the quality of life for the people of Youngstown, particularly the South Side while offering our suburban neighbors a glimpse of what we have the capability to do here.
